

Abstract of the Disclosure:

The clamping device is used to adjust at least one register element in a printing machine. The device has an upper clamping rail, to which the register element is fixed. The 5 upper clamping rail can be moved in a guide and fixed in position in order to adjust the register element.

T02280" 2666E550

WHS:tk-A-2865F//8/10/2001